God wove a web of loveliness,
Of clouds and stars and birds,
But made not anything at all
So beautiful as words.

Leadville provides setting for theatre

Last summer, twenty-five Juco students participated in five weeks of summer theatre at Leadville, Colorado. In addition, there were also director Mr. Darryl Patten and Mrs. Patten. Mrs. Amos B. Marsh accompanied and directed the music continuity, and Mr. Bob Peterson, director of theatre at Kansas Newman College of Wichita, served as director of choreography.

The players staged four productions at the historic Tabor House. They were: "Ten Little Indians," "Little Mary Sunshine," "Alice In Wonderland," and "The Physician In Spite Of Himself."

Ten Years of

Butler County Community Junior College celebrated its tenth anniversary in October, 1973. The occasion was commemorated by various events involving students, faculty, and staff.

The members of the Board of Trustees hosted a reception for the members of the faculty and staff. The school newspaper, THE LANTERN, published a special 20-page edition for the occasion.

On the original completion, the occasion was recognized with an address by Governor Avery, followed by an open house to the public on October 2, 1966.

Butler County Community Junior College was the first county college in the state of Kansas. Construction work on the campus began in February of 1966, and continued until the summer of 1967, at which time the total campus was complete. The pictures on these pages show the campus at different times during its 10-year history.

ROTC Program Initiated At Butler

Captains Michael Linn and Michael Brown became familiar personalities on campus during the past year as they initiated the ROTC course in cooperation with the program at Wichita State University. Both men are assistant professors of military science as Wichita's only ally.

Students — men or women — enrolled in the ROTC course receive credit that transfers to any university offering the program. They are also eligible to receive scholarships and other financial aids during their last two years of college.

Classroom activities are held on campus. Students spend one Saturday a month at Wichita for a leadership laboratory test. The course is designed to provide training in management and leadership and leads to a commission as 2nd Lieutenant.

'The Crucible'

On November 8, 9, and 10 BCCJC actors performed and worked behind the scenes in the theatre department's fall presentation, "The Crucible." Darryl Patten, aided by Greg Fox, assistant director, produced this socially significant drama by Arthur Miller. Set in the sixteenth century in Salem, Massachusetts, "The Crucible" is the story of how untruths and ignorance eventually destroy the lives of thirty-nine men and women reputedly possessed by the Devil.

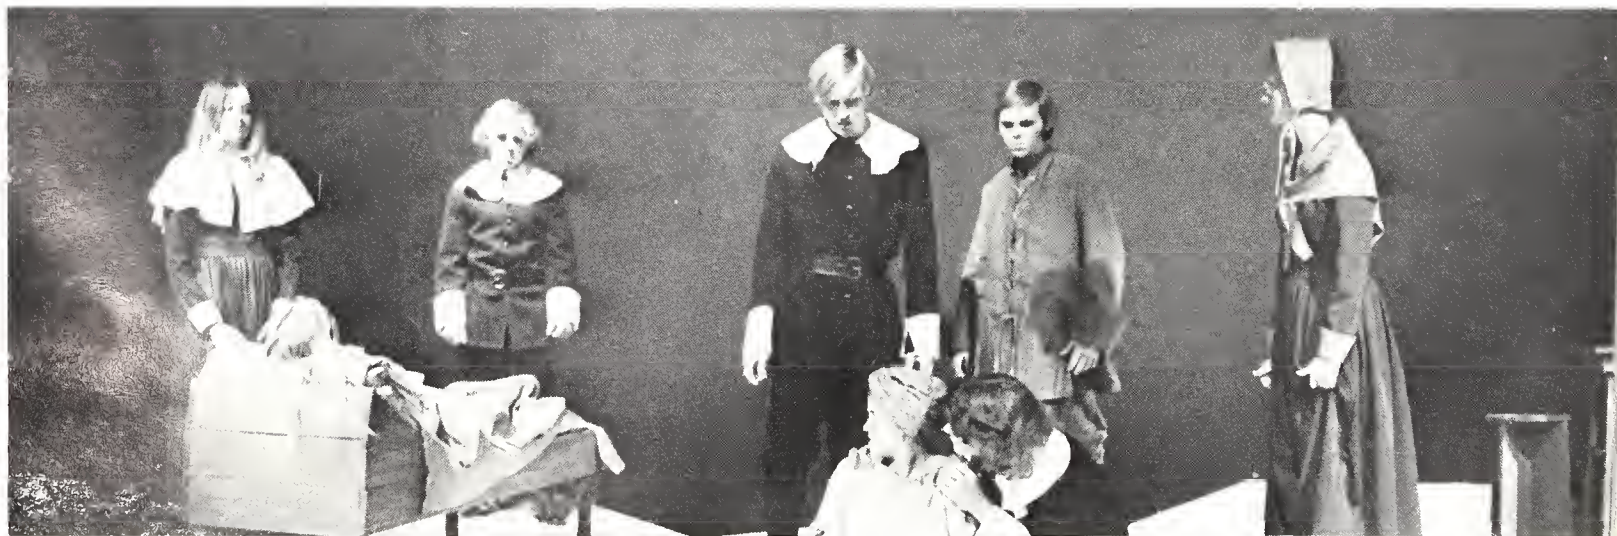

Young girls (K. Watts, K. Willson, K. Brickley, and M. Thompson) pretending to be possessed, cause the tragedy of Salem.

Two staunch women of Salem (B. Lamb and C. Kelly) are accused of practicing witchcraft.

John Oliver as the Rev. Hale exercises the Devil as he pleads with Jenise Hudson as Tituba.

A tense scene occurs in the courtroom during the Salem witchcraft trials: Rex McVey, Francis Nurse; Ed Swift, Giles Cory: Karen Watts, Mary Warren; Don Gilliland, John Proctor; Sterling Johnson, Rev. Samuel Parris; Jim Cobb, Deputy Governor Danforth; Kandi Willson, Abigail Williams; Dan Ross, Judge Hathorne; John Oliver, Rev. Hale; Melinda Thompson, Mercy Lewis; and Kay Brickley, Susanna Wollcott.

Don Gilliland as John Proctor: "You'll not take my wife," Charlene Kelly as Elizabeth Proctor.

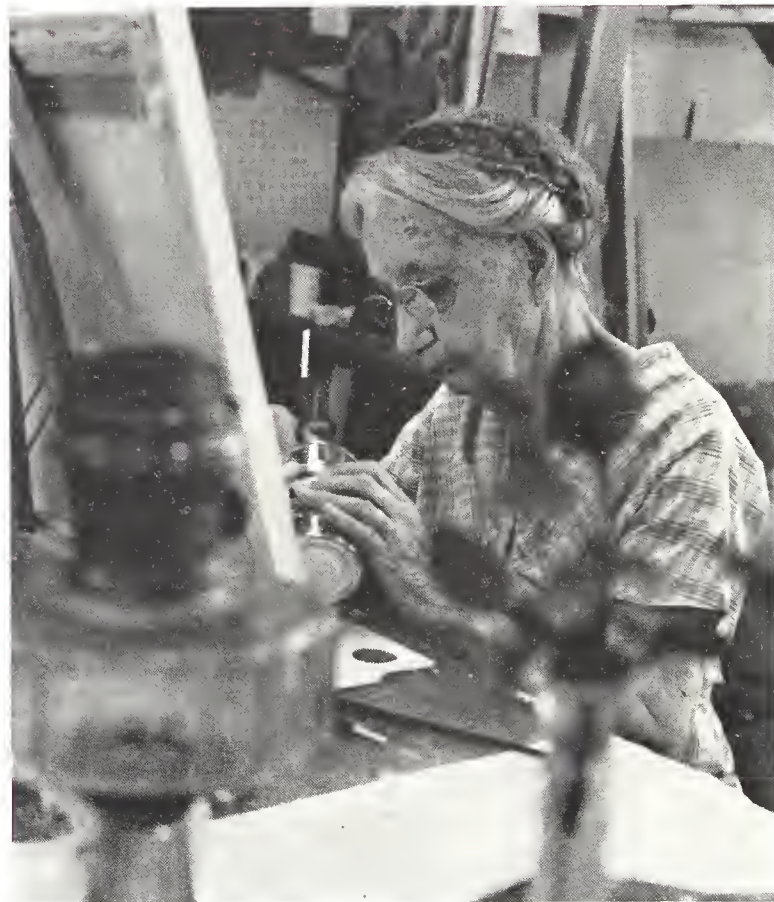

Mitzi Mossman as Ann Putnam: "They saw her fly over Ingersoll's barn"; Leah January as Betty Parris. Looking on are John Reinhart as Thomas Putnam and Sterling Johnson as Rev. Samuel Parris.

Gail Braman, 81, El Dorado, has been a special art student in Mr. Havel's painting classes this year, fulfilling a life-long ambition. The first formal art courses she has ever had have given her a chance to learn the techniques and to improve her skill in creating paintings in oil. Her enthusiasm and success have been an inspiration to many in the art department.

Fine Arts

The music and art departments offer many opportunities to the community for both participation and entertainment. Concerts, gallery shows, and club programs receive many commendations. Darryl F. Patten directed the Butler Chorus and Community Chorale in a special concert during the spring semester.

Art courses attract the interests of all ages; each student can experiment with his chosen medium and explore other methods of artistic communication.

Student Council

The student council is the governing body that represents the student body regarding the policies of the activities program. The council consisted of three representatives from each class and one from each club, and the council sponsor, Miss Judy Strain. The council was very active in extra curricular activities. As usual, it sponsored the homecoming festivities. Pictured at right are President Walbourn and Carol Day-Nettleton greeting Queen Kit Hawk. For the first time on campus, students could view films on the videotape unit in the Union. Also, for the first time, students became members of college committees. The council included in its program after-game dances and the Red Cross blood drive.

DECA

The Distributive Education Clubs of America, otherwise known as DECA, are specifically designed for students enrolled in distributive education. This is a program of instruction which teaches management and merchandising. The BCCJC club attended a fall leadership conference and raised money by selling candy. This money was used to send members to the state contest in Topeka and to sponsor an employer-employee reception dinner. Mr. Herman Ogg served as the club's sponsor.

Campus Crusade for Christ

The Campus Crusade for Christ (CCC) is a loosely structured interdenominational organization open to any student or faculty member. It attempts to provide a basic understanding of Christian living and of the Bible, with discussions, guest speakers, song fests, and religious services. Members share additional fellowship through dinners, parties, and other recreational activities.

Office Education Club

The Office Education Club prepared students to enter the business world. The club programs included guest speakers who talked about their specific businesses and about qualifications of secretaries. The club sponsored money-making projects to provide for a gift to the Swift scholarship fund, for a planned trip to a job fair, and for attending the state spring contest.

"The Lantern"

"The Lantern" is the student newspaper published weekly at BCCJC. Editors John Reinhart and Jim Cobb, assisted by an efficient staff and advised by Bill Bidwell, reported the news, critiqued plays, books, and records, and recorded and photographed the campus events of the year. Twenty-one staff members were honored at the fifth annual journalism banquet held in December.

Nursing Department Increases Staff

Strenuous study and hard work enabled the nursing students to perform well in spite of many miles of commuting to hospital facilities in Newton and Wichita, as well as in El Dorado.

The addition of two staff members, Janet Bahr and Michael Goodwin, enhanced the offering of the department. Students received clinical instruction from surgeons, learned laboratory procedures from leading technicians, and acquired specialized help in practical medicine from experienced members in the medical field.

The Tiniest Town in Mexico

On February 1 the Junior College Theatre opened a fourteen-performance run of the musical play, "The Tiniest Town in Mexico." The play was written for young people by David Novak with music by Edward Herzog.

Approximately 1200 El Dorado grade school children saw the play in special morning and afternoon showings on campus. Six performances were also presented at the Wichita Children's Theater where the college players appeared for their fourth annual presentation. Additional showings were made in Augusta.

Collegiate 4-H Club

The 4-H Club maintained an active program despite a smaller membership. Members spent one day at the State Fair food booth. They also sent materials to Greenwood County for leadership training. They also gave twenty-five dollars to the George Swift Memorial Fund. Pictured above, Mitzi Mossman and Karmy Olson make a sign for the food booth. At left, members of the club pose in front of booth at the fair.

Industrial Education

Courses Provide Job Training

Courses in the industrial education department train people to seek immediate employment in the industrial field, to upgrade their job skills, to become independent in their particular activity, or to qualify for new employment. Those persons who so desire may also apply the training to a related baccalaureate degree program.

Yearbook Staff

The 1974 yearbook staff wishes to thank all persons who contributed in any way to this year's publication. The first semester class planned the book and completed the major portion of the copy. Second semester students assisted in meeting the final deadline. They also planned the supplement of spring activities.

Dormitory Students

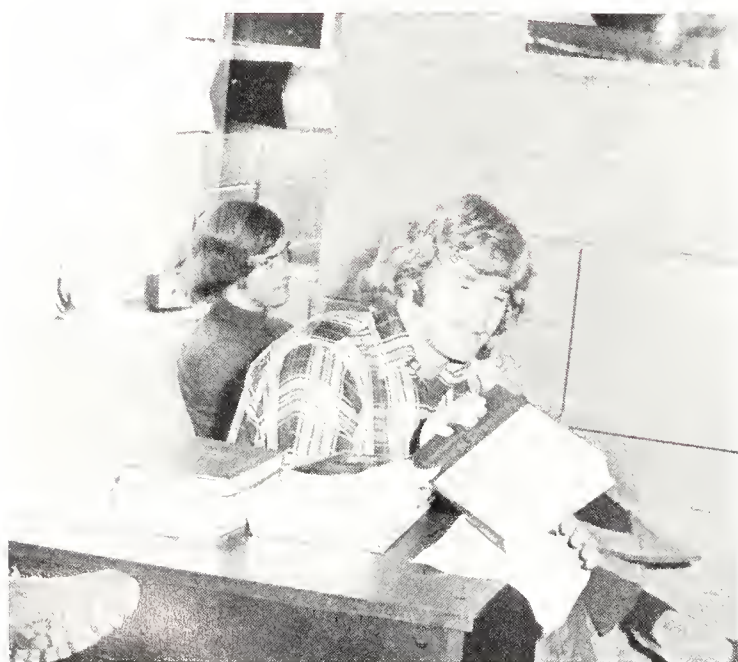

Living in a college dormitory is a challenging experience. A dorm fills the gap from the home environment to living away from home. This year's students seem to manage well. Mrs. Moriarty, dorm housemother, said that students had neater and more decorative rooms than last year. She added that they were more cooperative too.

Behind the Scenes

Many activities take place in an institution that are often so routine that they receive little recognition, but the events are still essential to the ongoing success of our campus community.

Mitzi Mossman and Mrs. Longfellow use yards of goods and spend hours of time fashioning play costumes.

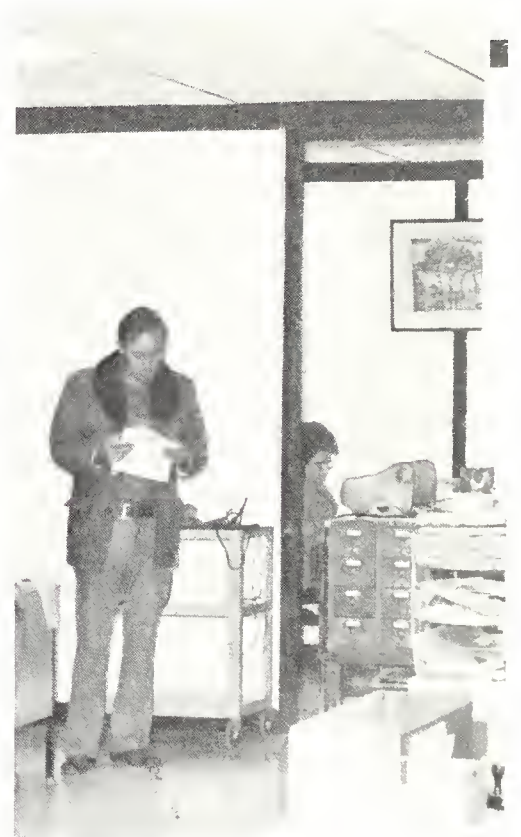

Butch, who adopted the campus as his home, is a friend to all on campus as long as classes are in session. But when the last car leaves at night, he assumes the role of assistant patrolman and alerts the security guard of any intruders. His friends put him behind the camera to be properly "mugged."

International Students

Under the direction of Mr. Bill Trent the international students organized a club for the purpose of promoting understanding among people of the world at any level of community interest. Six students attended the state foreign student conference in Emporia, and several students have shared their personal experiences as guests in various homes in the county.

Officers of the club elected in January are Hugo Moreira, president; Zee Yazdanpanah, vice president; and German Paolini, secretary-treasurer.

Cheerleaders

Perhaps the busiest people on campus are the cheerleaders, who attend the athletic events of all major sports, seek ways of creating enthusiastic support among the student body and community fans, and uphold the fighting spirit of any team, regardless of its win-loss record. This year's cheerleaders have been most faithful in their performance and thus deserve credit for a job well done.

Cross Country 1973

Although the cross country team did not dominate as past Butler teams had done, it nevertheless had a respectable season with four first places, five second places including second place for Region VI. Seven members attended the National Junior College Athletic Association meet in Tallahassee Florida, where they placed twenty-third. Brent Coffman was the alternate at the Nationals and photographed the meet. Coach Isom commended the team for their improvement and reported that the time comparisons with those of previous teams indicated that they were equally as strong as other teams have been.

Grizzlies Finish Season With a 1-9-1 Tally

When one looks back on the 1973-74 football season, the first impression is that of failure. However a team does not have to have a winning season to be successful. Many people gain valuable experience which can help mold them into good citizens in our society by learning that winning is not the only thing. Next season the prospects for a good football team at Butler County look favorable.

In addition to the above named sports, intramural competition has been available in a variety of games. A series of play nights during the second semester also offered fun for all interested participants.

President Edwin J. Walbourn and the six members of the Board of Trustees of Butler County Junior College are the policy makers of the school. They also insure that the college operates smoothly. Two new members of the board, W. Patrick Russell and Ralph W. Under, are the first graduates of the college to serve on the board of trustees.

The board hosted a reception for the faculty and staff members in October as a part of the observation of the tenth anniversary of the college at its present location. The board also authorized a new program in Building Trades and the continuance of the summer theatre project. To maintain enrollment, it granted in-county scholarships and voted to continue a full college program, despite budget cuts.

Administrative Staff

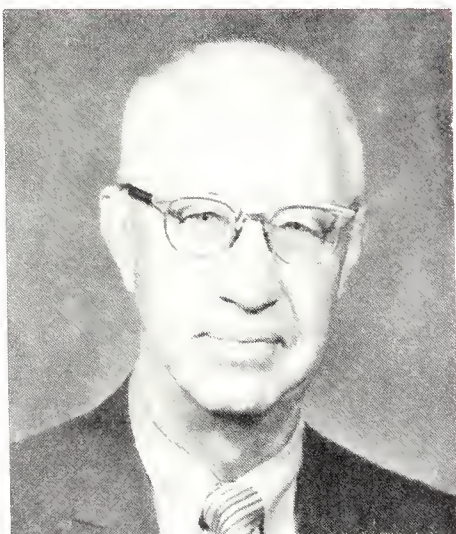

The administrators faced a budget problem this year because of reduced state funds last spring. But a state regulated increase in tuition from $5.00 to $7.00 per credit hour, some unexpected funds, faculty resignations, and slightly larger class sizes enabled them to maintain a high academic standard.

Campus Staff

The campus staff hold positions that are important to every student. The housemother aids dormitory residents while the librarians and their assistants are most helpful to all students seeking information from library materials. Students needing vocational guidance or employment can find answers to their questions in the counseling center. An occupational library is also available to students wishing to obtain information for their choice of a four-year college or university.

Gail Parry visits Mr. Trent for her freshman counseling appointment.

Mrs. Fritzler answers a question from Grant Vance.

Secretarial Staff

Trained clerical personnel perform essential services in various administrative offices. The secretaries also have duties which range from processing parking violations to directing campus visitors. The operation of the college would not function properly without the help of the efficient secretarial staff.

Maintenance Staff

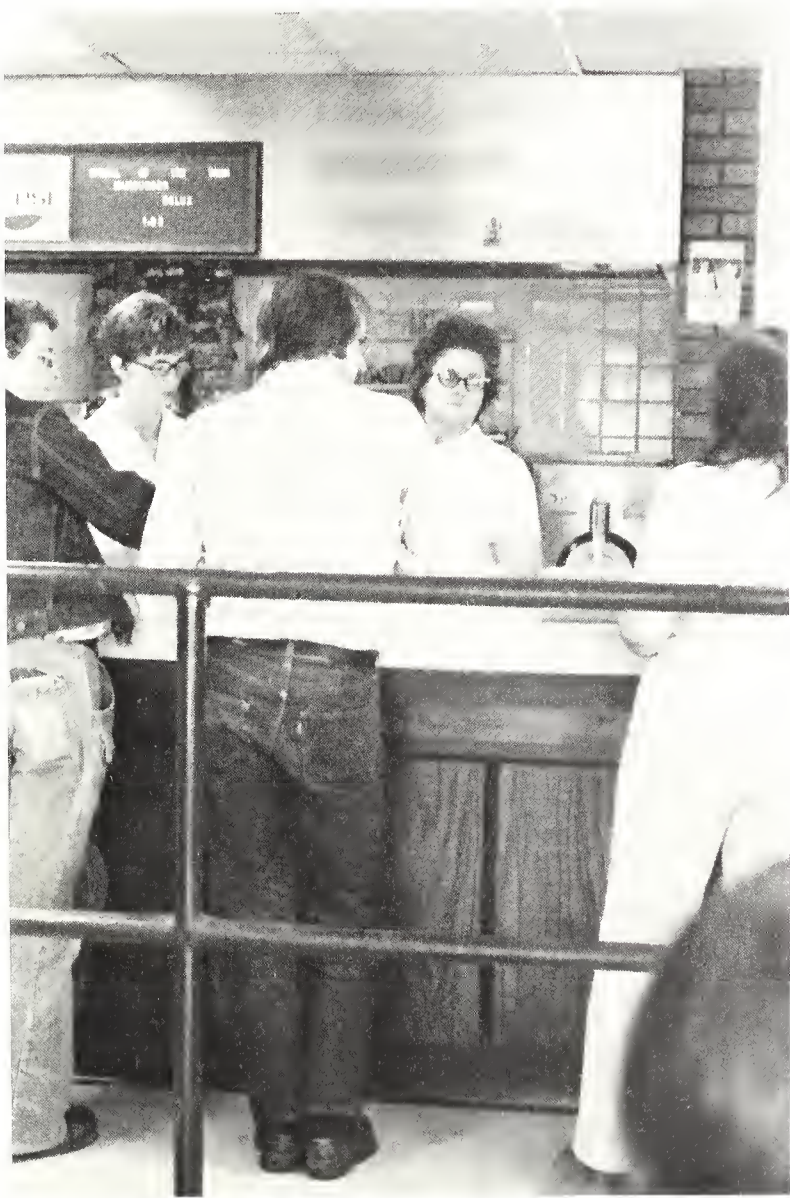

The custodial staff is one of the most needed, but perhaps least recognized, operational staffs on campus. Their duties include cleaning the buildings, caring for the grounds, and engineering the electrical system on campus. In general, they must keep all areas of the campus attractive, comfortable, and functional. Members of the maintenance staff are assisted by a number of student employees. This year a number of women students have been employed.

Kala Burhenn is one of the women employed by the maintenance department.

Cafeteria Staff

The cafeteria workers, although not directly connected with the college, are important to the students at BCCJC. They are employed by Food Management, Inc., which is located in Tulsa, Oklahoma. The college, however, does get a certain percentage of food sales and also of the income from the vending machines and pool tables. Members of the cafeteria staff are closely associated with the faculty, students, and community as they provide food services for regular meals and for dinners and parties.

In Memoriam

George E. Swift, Jr.

George Swift, business instructor and chairman of the business division, died in a plane crash on the morning of October 9, 1973, near Cassoday. An experienced pilot, he had logged many flying hours for professional as well as personal activities. In addition to his business classes, Mr. Swift taught ground school flight courses and sponsored the junior college flying club. He also was president of the newly organized Kansas Higher Education Association and had served on numerous local, area, and state committees in the interests of improved educational standards.

Swift was a Major in the Kansas National Guard, a member of the El Dorado Lions Club, and an elder in the El Dorado Christian Church.

His involvement with students, fellow-workers, campus activities, and his many personal interests left a vast number of persons to mourn his death, in addition to his wife Juanita and daughters, Diana and Denise.

Relatives, friends, student groups, and other groups responded substantially in contributing to the George E. Swift Memorial Scholarship Fund.

Swift swears in Terri Flowers, as first woman veteran to enlist in Kansas National Guard.

College-Community Theatre Presents "The Devil's Disciple"

The spring show presented by the college-community theatre was George Bernard Shaw's "The Devil's Disciple." David Longfellow directed it as his first full-length production on the campus. Darryl Patten served as technical director, assisted by his stage craft class and by Shirley Longfellow in the costume department.

Plans were also laid for the Butler Repertory Theatre to return to Leadville, Colorado, for the second year of summer theatre.

Delta Psi Omega Candidates — Shirley Longfellow, Mitzi Mossman, Pat Mahaffey, Steve Russell, Tim Sidebottom, Jill Mc Collum, Pam Vance, Jill Gibb, Billie Waggy, Debbie Staats, Sterling Johnson, Karen Watts — were initiated in traditional ceremonies following the last spring dramatic production.

Blenda Kuhlmann Retires

The retirement of Miss Blenda Kuhlmann, for 18 years an instructor at Butler County Community College, came at the end of the spring semester, and it was marked in several ways.

For one, her commencement address to 1974 graduates was the first given by a faculty member. In another recognition, associates, friends, former students and relatives were present for a banquet honoring her before the term ended.

Miss Kuhlmann's retirement marked 40 years of teaching in public schools. She had spent an additional eight years in training and teaching for religious education and in completing her degree. Her interest in religious education will continue this fall when she teaches an evening course on the literature of the Bible.

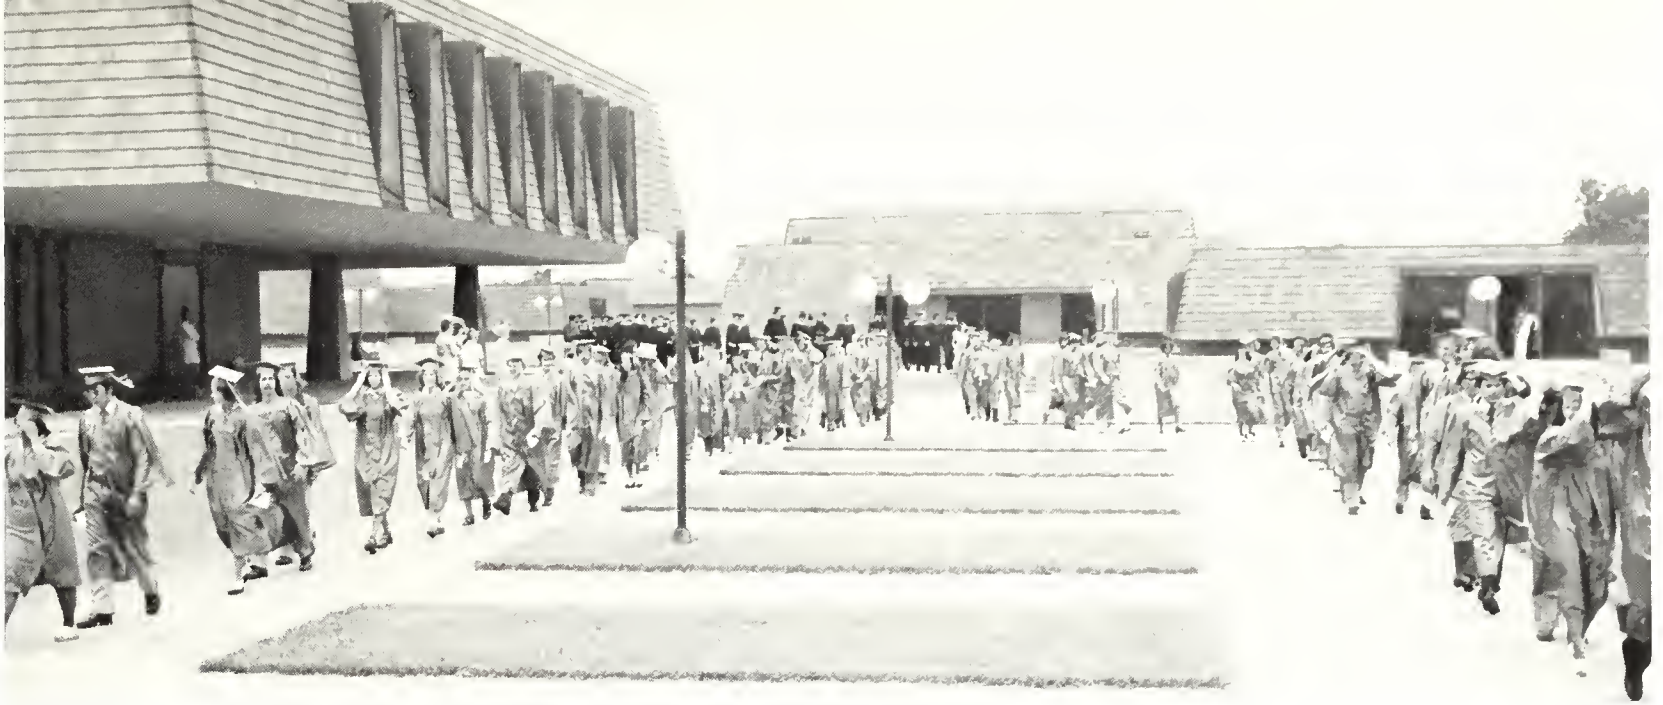

She has taught English, literature and yearbook courses, served as faculty adviser to the Grizzly for 16 years, and from 1968-1973 was chairman of the Language and Literature Division.

A graduate of Baker University and of K.S.T.C., Emporia, she had also taught in elementary and high school levels.

Miss Kuhlmann closes a teaching career that began in September, 1926.

Graduates and faculty complete traditional academic procession across campus.

Honoring the candidates for degrees, the forty-seventh commencement of the college was held in the gymnasium at 10:00 a.m., May 11. Miss Blenda Kuhlmann, retiring instructor of English, was the first faculty member to address a graduating class. She used as her topic "Builders of Dreams." President Walbourn presented the class to Mr. E. F. Adams, chairman of the board of trustees, who presented the diplomas. Since the 1973 commencement a total of 3468 students completed requirements for degrees.
